Black Republicans Converted.

We think it quite likely that, by the time the canvass is over in Illinois, there will be no Black Republicanism in that State. Their champion has to meet Douglas; and has to modify, and explain, and expand, until there will be scarce a tinge of the "nigger" left. When the brethren could meet together and prompt each other, he who went furthest for the negro was best. Lincoln, in his enthusiasm before the Convention that proclaimed him their Senator first, and last, and all the time, declared that this country must be all Doug or all slave; but when he came to meet Doug before the people, he found himself in quite a different latitude. He was compelled to ignore his party platform, and invent one of his own. He is indignant now at the charge of negro equality.

The other day, Trumbull was to make a speech down in Egypt, and one of the items on his bills was, "Opposition to immigration of free negroes into the State." These negroes are citizens of the United States, or may be, according to Black Republicanism; and here the brethren are going to prohibit citizens of the United States from immigrating to Illinois. This is shocking; and we don't see how the intensified will get along. However, it is a day of small things with them; and if they can only get the offices, they can afford to throw away the creed pro tem. Lincoln explains that his brethren North are a little more intensified than the brethren South; and that they all agree upon a middle ground. If the cause could last much longer, all the ground would be gone; all the Black Republicans would be whipped out of them.

The editor of the Journal thinks, that, after our denunciations of the Lecompton measure, we must, of necessity, repudiate all its advocates, as politicians unfit to be trusted. If a man acted on that principle, he would soon be a man by himself. The editor of the Journal is a very bad fix, if his party should treat him as he would have us treat ours. Although we may be pretty infallible ourselves, we don't profess to belong to an infallible party. Indeed, we don't think editors would be of much use in an infallible party; and therefore we don't desire to belong to such a one.

The editor of the Journal thinks, that, with his party in split in two on it; the largest part being right against him. He need not talk of inconsistency either; he is ready to unite with the anti-slavery part of the North to elect a President; and, at the same time, he publishes here in Kentucky an ultra pro-slavery creed. It is more Southern than Orie, Stevens, or Davis; while he is ready to unite in supporting a party composed of such men as Greeley, Lincoln, Seward, Co. He doesn't seem to care anything about creeds or measures in his support of party; at least, he will unite with any class of men, with any sort of antecedents, in the election of President. On the other hand, the Democrats everywhere will act hereafter as they have done heretofore, omitting Lecompton. That is neither a standard nor test of any principle. In short, the editor of the Journal might have learned, by his long and painful political experience, that the Democracy can manage the politics of this country, and no other party can. The opposition is more spasmodic and ridiculous efforts—one position waging war on foreigners and the Pope; another striving to make something out of the negro, against the laws of nature; and to make one-half the Union subjugate the other. Then they fall, to fail, to try again, to build on ruins, and go to ruin themselves.

The editor himself has been perfectly exercised in hunting up a party. He is a stranger without a home. He would give a great deal to be in just such a party as we are; but he can't get admission. Indeed, he has a little abashed to apply. He knows that there is a lot of such as that nobody would trust him.

One thing, we think, is perfectly apparent; and the position of the two veteran politicians which we are considering, is that of the anti-slavery right here in the Union, and that is, that whenever gentlemen begin to change their policies, and lock themselves into new arrangements and new coalitions, they are very apt to be regarded as seekers of place, and their motives and acts are not invested by the public with the patriotic consideration to which the anti-slavery right are entitled.

The anti-slavery is always slow to give credit to the disinterestedness of men who, suddenly turn round and unite themselves with that party; and that, too, without the change of a single principle which they felt it their duty so long to wage battle.

Observer and Reporter.

There is a good deal of truth in that; and it accounts for the little credit given the Observer, and others, who left the Whig party to follow the new lights of Know Nothingism.

To add their difficulties, they are now looking about for a new party. By the time they suffer another loss of credit, from the last change, they had better make an assignment.

THEATRE.—Evadne was not given last night with that excellence with which it has been performed. Some of the performers were a little tame in their parts, and Miss Jones, herself, at times, seemed to lack that enthusiasm and self-forgetfulness which generally characterizes her personations. Still, there were scenes full of appropriate spirit—full of excellence and life. In the play, her acting was very super-pervaded with a pathos that touched every heart in the audience.

This evening Miss Jones will appear as Sybil, in the play of that name, written for her by John Savage, Esq., and founded upon incidents connected with the celebrated Beauchamp tragedy at Frankfort. We shall expect a crowded house, and advise those who would have good seats, to secure them early this evening.

GERMAN THEATER.—Muzart Hall was not as well attended last evening as it should have been; the company, so far as we have seen their performances, is really a good one, and we are astonished that our German citizens do not give them proper encouragement.

Exchange Office on Market Street.

We call the attention of our readers, especially of that body of "solid men," the butchers, to the card of Messrs. Davis & Meyer's in our columns to-day. They open this morning on the north side of Market street, between Third and Fourth streets, and will transact all the general business of an exchange office. Messrs. Davis & Meyers are well known in Louisville. They combine experience and excellent business capacity, and their office, situated upon Market street, will be a real convenience to the neighborhood.

CLOTHING.—We invite attention of our readers to the advertisement of the Local Board of Directors of the New York Life Insurance Company. Their first session was held yesterday. After passing upon the regularity and solvency of the company, they "recommend it to the encouragement and support of the community."

Mr. Trotter, the general agent of the company, is here, with his usual happy effect, starting the agency into active operation. See advertisement in another column, and go immediately and get your life insured.

CLOTHING.—We ask the attention of our readers to the conspicuous advertisement of Mr. Mark Straus, dealer in clothing and furnishing goods. He keeps constantly on hand a large and fine assortment of cloths, cambrics, and vestings, which he is prepared to make up to order in the most fashionable style. Those who wish to buy clothing at low prices, or have their clothes made to order, will do well to give this old established house a call. They deal as fair as the fairest.

SEEDS AND AGRICULTURAL WORKSHOUSE.—The advertisement of our friends, Messrs. Peter & Buchanan, will be found in our columns. The trade of this extensive establishment embraces every implement, large and small, made for the use of the farmer, from the largest threshing or reaping machine to the smallest spade or hoe used in the kitchen garden. Garden and grass seeds, too, of every variety, and of the best quality, can also be bought of them either at wholesale or retail. The proprietors are too favorably known throughout all the Western and Southern States to need any commendation from us; but to those who may not have had transactions with this house, we would say that their reputation for fair dealing and promptness in filling orders is well deserved. They occupy the large four-story building, No. 484 Main street, which is filled from cellar to garret, with every article that a farmer could desire in prosecuting his vocation.

PHOTOGRAPHY.—The fame of the Messrs. Weisgers as Photographers and Daguerreotypists, is not confined to Louisville, nor Kentucky. They are known throughout the length and breadth of the land.

Mr. H. Heiliger, of the firm of Louden & Co., was shot by a Mr. Stroeng, in Washington City. It appears that while Mr. Heiliger and several gentlemen were standing on the steps of the Masonic Hall, a gay man was seen to pass up and down in front of the door. He suddenly turned—drew a revolver and shot into the crowd, hitting Mr. H. in the foot, which had to be amputated. It is thought Mr. Stroeng is insane, but there had been no quarrel between the parties; and Mr. Stroeng believes he has authority to kill every Free Mason.

CANES.—The finest assortment of fancy and plain walking canes has just been received at Charley Melville's, under the National Hotel. They excel anything we have seen in the city. Charley keeps everything fine in his line. Call and see his canes and fancy articles, and do not fail to try his cigars. They are fine—the best in the city.

Mr. C. C. Spencer, sells this morning, in the room over Mr. W. W. Talbot's fancy store, on Fourth street, between Market and Jefferson, a fine assortment of imported embroidered lace, and muslin window curtains, to which we call the attention of our lady readers, city and country dealers and housekeepers. The sale is on time.

OKLAHOMA RACES.—If the weather is fine the races will take place this afternoon, which were set for yesterday, but which did not come off.

More Rain.—About half past eleven o'clock, last night, another shower came up, but it was not heavy.

The Lafayette Engine house has been altered, and one of the steam engines has been located at the wharf—a boat at the city wharf.

Yesterday morning was cloudy, but the afternoon was clear and pleasant.

The Mariner from Cincinnati brought 37 pigs furniture; 61 pigs liquor; 37 boxes tobacco; 25 barrels oil of wine; 72 barrels whisky; 700 barrels paper; 35 dozen wands, and 26 barrels onions.

The Minnesotans, from Memphis, discharged 500 pigs lead and 200 lbs sugar.

The St. Louis Democrat, of the 5th, says:

The river is falling at this point steadily but slowly. All boats from the Upper Mississippi and Missouri represent navigation as becoming more and more difficult and precarious. The Plate Valley last yesterday for Alton, having passed the 2,000-ton mark, ran into the river at 10 a.m. The last boat to pass the 2,000-ton mark will be found at the steamer of Messrs. Davis & Co., at Ninth street, at which time the tide will be at low water.

There are two cases of assault with intent to kill now awaiting examination. Willis Mitchell and son for assaulting Henry Karbman, and Charles Butcher, for assaulting Louis Victoria.

Mayor Riley will report to the Council, on Thursday night, the result of the election for Mayor, held in this city on Monday.

The sun came out beautifully yesterday afternoon, and almost made one forget this was not summer.

The steamboat John Brigg is offered for sale. Read advertisement in another column.

Steamboat Register.—WEDNESDAY, October 6.

Advertiser.—Mariner, Cincinnati; V. K. Stephens, Cairo; Monee, Memphis; Tennessee, Cairo.

Departure.—Mariner, Cincinnati; Minnesota, Memphis; Saline, Memphis.

By Telegraph.

Prinsloo, Oct. 6.—River 3 feet 8 inches by pier mark and falling. Weather 30° and cool.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 6.—River 1 inch higher. The weather is cloudy and cool.

St. Louis, Oct. 6.—River about stationary. All the upper streams are falling. There was a heavy rain early this morning, since which it has been clear and pleasant.

Mechanics' Fair.

A branch of our home manufacture, which is carried on to a very considerable extent, though, as yet, comparatively but little known to the public, is that of brushes. Messrs. Wimber & Co., who have been engaged in this business for some two years or more, exhibit a case of their work which will not only compare favorably with articles of eastern make, but will, in some respects, carry off the palm. In this case we find brushes of all kinds, or nearly all—for the hair, the flesh, the clothes, as well as for coarse work.

Messrs. T. H. Hunt & Co., of the Louisville Mills, have on exhibition, samples of their manufacture in bagging and rope; their bagging has always commanded ready sale in the South, and will continue to do so as long as they manufacture such an article as they have on exhibition.

William Richardson, of the Kentucky Wool Works, shows samples of his manufacture, which will attract general attention from mechanics, especially wagon and carriage builders. He shows hobs, felloes, spokes, &c., for all kinds of vehicles, from the lightest buggy to the heaviest wagon. This is also a comparatively new branch of manufacture, and should be liberally encouraged.

Mark Anthony & Co., of New Albany, show samples of their work in wooden ware—pegs and half bushels, measures, and other articles of the same character; these give evidence of being carefully and strongly made; they have the appearance of durability, and are neat.

Messrs. Campbell & Dunderdon, of this city, have specimens of frames and trimme work, panels, &c., which, for excellence of finish and neatness of design, will carry off the prize; in oval picture frames they seem to have achieved a great success, their work being not only strong but exceedingly neat.

Buchanan & Co., manufacturers of chairs, show some very good samples of their work; hall and parlor chairs, office chairs, cushion and cane seat rockers, &c. Our people should, by all means, encourage home manufacture, if this testimony which shows the policy to be effective. By this wise legislation a sufficient amount is guaranteed, against all the claims of a creditor, to insure the wife the privilege of a life policy upon her husband. Does she object that it becomes available by her death? Then she should object to any testamentary devise. By his labor or earnings he rendered the tenement he has been left to occupy; by the same prudent investment of savings or earnings, he obtained a life policy.

Seeing what life insurance is destined, under its new institutions, to accomplish, we hold it up to the American people as a great germ of civilization, a great new for the permanent care of the family.

Jeffersonville Railroad.

On and after Monday, July 12, 1858, trains on the Jeffersonville Railroad will leave Jeffersonville, opposite Louisville, at 6:30 A. M., 10:50 A. M., and 10 P. M., daily, Sundays excepted.

Close connections are made by the 10:50 A. M. and 10 P. M. train at Seymour, with trains on the Ohio and Mississippi R. R., for St. Louis, Mound City, Cairo, Jefferson City, Kansas, and other points.

The 6:30 A. M. and 10 P. M. trains run through to Indianapolis, and form close connections with trains on the Terra Haute, Lafayette, Peru, Bellfontaine, and Indiana Central Railroad, for all the principal cities of the East, West, and North.

The 10 P. M. train on Saturdays only goes to Seymour, where connections are made for Cincinnati and St. Louis.

One train on Sundays, at 10 P. M., running through to Indianapolis, connecting at Seymour, for Louis and Cairo, also Cincinnati and the East, and at Indianapolis for the principal cities East, West, and North.

Only one change of cars between Louisville and Cincinnati, St. Louis or Chicago.

Baggage checked to all the principal cities. A baggage car goes to each, thereby avoiding unnecessary round trips incidental to other routes leading from Louisville to the West and Northwest. Time is quick and fare as low as by any other route.

Through tickets and further information given at the Company's Office, No. 267, corner of Main and Third streets, Louisville, Ky., or at the depot in Jeffersonville, Ind.

EXCELSIOR!

Chickering & Sons' Pianos!!
THEIR NEW SCALE—THEIR LATEST
AND BEST IMPROVEMENT.

IT AFFORDS US GREAT PLEAS-

URE to announce that we have received
THE SOLE AGENCY IN THE STATE OF KENTUCKY of the Chickering & Sons' Pianos, the world-renowned Piano-Forte, and that we have just opened and are ready for inspection the most superb
West-embroidered grand piano.

These are the first of their instruments with the new scale that have been sent from their factory, and are the best and most improved. The instruments themselves have been made to stand the most severe tests, and, besides, every other article necessary to adorn the outer man. He, of course, made his selection, after which he took a stroll through the establishment, and was again led men's clothing house, and, when he had left, a heavy sigh let out by the hands and after making a slight elevation in the rear of the store, he said, so his utter astonishment, the most extraordinary display of youths' and children's clothing that he had ever seen, and a crowd of ladies in ecstasies, all extolling the genius of Mr. Armstrong, who had received them creation—SISTER GOSPEL—"Ah, that is the style of coat that I like!" exclaimed a young fellow, as he gazed admiringly at a tasteful article worn by a passer-by. "I wonder who is his clothes?" His wonder did not last long, as he soon reached the store of

M. Armstrong, opposite the National Hotel, and, after a few moments of examination, he
and, besides, every other article necessary
to adorn the outer man. He, of course, made

LADIES' DRESS GOODS.—We take pleasure in inviting the attention of strangers—more particularly the attention of ladies—of the various descriptions of fancy dry goods, now on exhibition and for sale at the store of G. B. Taft, corner of Market and Fourth streets. He is daily receiving goods from New York of the latest styles. His stock of silk, mohair, cashmere, cambric, papionies, cloths, &c., is considerable, and the variety of goods is the largest in the city. A large and varied assortment of fancy goods of every description, at the low est market prices. In a word, we say, we have all to those in the richest and cheapest goods to call at the store of G. B. Taft, corner of Fourth and Market streets, and you will find no trouble in finding what you will be sure to find.

B.—A genuine specimen of the Atlantic
Cable can be seen in the window.

The Atlantic Cable—This is to certify that we have received citizens of Cleveland and vicinity, have used Dr. R. D. Porter's Lithium, for numerous and various external diseases, and have found it truly efficacious
in every instance where it has been used according to directions.

After a few trials of almost every kind,
we can find no one to produce such happy results as Porter's Oriental Life. We are, therefore, unanimously believe it to be the only legitimate that will realize the expectations of all who are afflicted with the diseases it purports to cure.
